Thousands of farm houses have piazzas upon the sunny side that might be utilized for both pleasure and profit in the winter. Such utilization, moreover, would entail no great expense outside of the small amount of home carpentering that would be required. There are two or three points to be considered when making a plant room of a piazza. First, as to floors. The ordinary piazza has no tight underpinning to keep out the cold. Usually it has only lattice work, while the floor, also, is usually more or less open. It would be no great trouble to lay a new matched floor over the few feet of space to be occupied by the plant room. Then cover the lattice work around the base of the piazza with heavy, resin-sized or tarred building paper, tacking it tightly and bank with evergreen brush. Now, as to the outer walls. The greater part must of course, be of glass, but it is not advisable to have the sash extend to the floor. From the piazza rail down let the wall be of matched boarding. Along the front of this should be screwed to the inside of the rail. Sash to fit any opening can now be bought very cheap. It is desirable that communication with this plant room be from a living room rather than by a hall door, so it may be found desirable to cut down a window and make a door of it. This will obviate the necessity of having a door in the outside temporary petitions.

The heating of such a plant room can be done in a number of ways, but the simplest and most satisfactory for the average farmhouse will probably be by the use of an oil stove. These little sitting-room oil heaters have been so greatly improved and made so reasonable in price that they will be found wonderfully convenient for just such use as this. Care should be taken, however, to get a make in which the flame will not "crawl up" and smoke, if left by itself. The accompanying illustration gives a suggestion as to the making of a plant room upon a piazza. Of course, piazzas differ in shape, but the same principle of treatment will apply to nearly all cases. Make all as tight as possible, then an oil stove will give sufficient heat to keep the plants in health.—American Don't dally with heart disorders. There is but one cure. "I had been for a number of years sorely afflicted with heart disease. At times my life was despaired of. Doctors had prescribed, and I had taken every known heart remedy made, I had supposed, and did not get any benefit. I read of the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle, and in less time almost than it takes to tell it, the distress was relieved. I followed the directions closely and to-day I am a well woman again, and I shall do all in my power to make known to every one suffering as I did the wonderful cure it worked for me. Mrs. Wm. WEDDING BELLS. A brilliant event particularly interesting to the people of the Pines. The marriage of Miss Minnie Magee and R. James Dickson was impressively solemnized at 8.30 p.m. on the evening of May 5th, at the residence of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. S. Shorey before an assembled company of relatives and friends. The bride's gown was a triumph of the modistes art. The bridesmaid, Miss Allie Dickson, of Utica, N. Y., looked most charming. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Joseph Magee. The presents were numerous and costly. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served in the spacious dining hall. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will take up their residence at Bayburn. The sincere congratulations of the whole community are extended to the happy pair. We wish the happy bride and the generous hearted bridegroom a long, blissful and prosperous career.

The Wonder of the Age. DEAR SIR, —I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B.B.B. for the disease called prairie itch, and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. Our school is progressing favorably under the able management of Charles Elliot.

The debate at the Epworth League on Friday last was a very interesting one; subject, resolved that moral suasion without legal enactment cannot secure abolition of the liquor traffic. Mr. Frank Mellow and Fred Asselstine for the negative, W. B. Hough and Arthur Mellow for the affirmative. Although a long and fierce struggle ensued for the mastery, the judges gave the decision in favor of the affirmative side by one point. Mr. Charles Elliot, John R. Sills and Professor R. Kennedy of Bath, acted as judges.

The officers of Silsville Sunday School were elected last Sunday. Mr. S. H. Mellow as superintendent, Mr. Martin Hough as assistant, Mr. Fred Asselstine as secretary and treasurer. Mr. S. H. Mellow will take charge of the senior bible class, Mr. Frank Mellow the junior, Miss Lulu Charters the testament class and Mrs. B. Robertson the infant class. A Voice from Virden. GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for the past ten years, and find it a splendid remedy for colic, neuralgia, bronchitis, croup, pains in the back, ulcerated and sore throat, sprains, chilblains, etc., in fact we use it for almost every pain, and it always relieves quickly. I can safely say I know of no other remedy of the sort that can equal it. We always keep a good stock in the house.

TAMWORTH.

We have had a week of broken weather which has put seeding back a good deal and which will be hard on the early spring grain, but the grass will be helped very much by it.
Mr. Jacob Hicks left this locality early last week for the front. He intends to make his abode near Hay Bay.
John Floyd and son are improving their shop by enlarging it. We are glad to see improvements these hard times.

The two saw mills are very busy just now sawing up logs for customers.
The concert in aid of the Sheffield public library has been postponed. It will take place now on May 15th. A good programme may be looked for as they have engaged some good talent for the occasion and as it is gotten up for a good purpose it should be well patronized.

Our sick are improving, nearly all are convalescent.
Miss Addie Coxall, who has been dangerously ill for the last few weeks is at this writing a trifle better and there is now a slight hope of her recovery if nothing more serious sets in.

Mr. H. Richardson has just commenced to build a residence for himself. He has the stone, lumber, and brick for the structure. We hope more will build this season.

Queen's hotel has placed in position a fire escape in compliance with the license act now in force.

ERINSVILLE.

We feel deeply the loss, by death, of our highly esteemed and beloved friend, Mrs. Nicholas Phelan, of the Phelan House, Erinsville, who died on Wednesday, April 28th, aged 60 years 8 months and 15 days. Although ailing partly all winter she was confined to her bed only about three weeks. She died from cancer on the liver. Deceased suffered very little pain, and appeared resigned to her fate. She was a devout member of the Holy Roman Catholic church. She was comforted in her dying hour by her three brothers, who arrived at midnight, before she died, from West Huron, and her sister and two of her sons, also her brother, Rev. Father Cummins from Bothwell, who arrived on the day of her funeral. The latter visited her two weeks before her death. Her funeral took place on Friday the remains being followed to the grave by a large concourse of people. May her soul rest in peace.

Mr. John Neville is yet on the sick list, but is slowly recovering.
Mr. Martin Cummins, of Little Falls, N. Y., attended the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Nicholas Phelan, accompanied by his son Martin and daughter, Daisy. He returned home on the 4th inst.

Rev. Father Cummins returned home on the 6th, to Bothwell, accompanied by his sister, Bridget. The Phelan House occupants will be very lonesome after all the friends take their departure to their respective homes.

The farmers around here are busy seeding. The recent rains are forcing the fields to become green.

Mr. Charles Stewart left for Langdon, North Dakota, last week.

Mr. A. T. Stewart, jr. left for Kingston where he is attending college.

Mr. A. T. Stewart, sr. and wife are spending their honeymoon on the homestead, they both look hearty, especially Mr. Stewart, for a man of seventy summers.

Mr. Editor I had almost given up hopes of ever getting a better half until lately, so now I think while there is life there is hope. It is an old "maxim."

We have a man here from Watertown in the village who is purchasing cows to take over with him, he has already bought 50 and richest farmers are doing better the recent rain. To think we had such an early spring and they are not done sowing yet.

MORVEN.

Well Mr. Editor I think our correspondent has forgotten us entirely as I have not noticed anything from here in some time. Our little village is considered quite an important place and we consider the EXPRESS a very important paper, therefore I will endeavor to give you a little of the news if you will grant me space in your valuable columns.

Most of our farmers are through their spring's work.

Quarterly service was held in the Lutheran church last Sunday morning. A large crowd from here attended.

Our Epworth League is doing nicely under the able management of Miss Ada Davey, pres.

Mr. Sam Brown, of West Lake, took several pictures of our prominent places this week.

Mr. J. L. P. Gordanier set seven hundred apple trees last week.

Mr. Watts and bride of New York paid a flying visit to Morven before leaving for their home. We extend congratulations and wish them a very prosperous future.

Miss Howard, of Belleville, A. C., is the guest of Miss Emma Garrison.

We were favored on Sunday night at the White church by a very fine duet given by Misses Fannie Funnell and Ada Davey which was beautifully rendered. Both the young ladies have excellent voices and under fine control.

Mr. Drum Valteau spent Sunday at Bath.

Callers. Misses Aggie Miller and G. Mills of Fair View, Mr. H. Fralick of Napanee.

PICTON.

The soil was in excellent shape at the beginning of spring for farmers to begin spring's work. Much seeding was done before the late rains. Fall wheat and rye gives promise of an abundant crop and the meadows indicate that the hay crop will greatly excel that of last year.

The election for mayor caused by the death of Mayor Carter resulted in the election of Mr. Boulter by a majority of 47.

There is much discussion now with regard to a new Town Hall, electric light plant, and improved water works to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Several fine new residences have lately been erected in Hallowell and Quinte Wards. The main st. Methodist church was reopened on Sunday last after having been closed for the past few weeks for repairs and presents a much improved appearance.

All the boats are now running, the North King, Alexandria to Hamilton bringing in large quantities of freight.

The athletes of the town and school are practicing football and expect to play some matches in the near future.

There are a few cases of diphtheria in the town, consequently the attendance at the public school is about half its usual number.

Miss Wycott, of Greenbush, died last Friday and was buried in Glenwood Cemetery last Sunday. There was a very large funeral.

We have had abundant rains this week and the lawns present a beautiful appearance.

Workmen as Contractors.

A system of public work that has much to commend it is that of "Co-operative Contract," in vogue in New Zealand. Under that system a public work is divided into small sections by the engineer in charge, and an estimate is made of its cost. Each section is then let out to a group of workmen, who do the work under a foreman of their own choosing, but who receives no more than his fellows. The Government would be consistent with a full return for the money expended, giving to the community an advantage in the economical execution of public enterprises equal to that enjoyed by private employers.—Review of Reviews.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

OTTAWA March, 3rd, 1897.—It goes without saying that the all-absorbing topic at the Capital, just now is the new Liberal tariff. It is safe to assume that the tariff resolutions, as a whole, have been received with unbounded satisfaction by Liberals everywhere, as well also have they proved pleasing to multitudes of Conservatives throughout the Dominion. In some particular feature or item, of course, there doubtless will be experienced more or less disappointment in proportion as certain sections of the country may be affected by the bearing which such feature or item may exert upon them. Take, for instance, the tax upon bituminous coal and the possibility of its increase. In Nova Scotia and British Columbia, the relation of the duty upon this article brings to these particular sections the most profound satisfaction, while in Ontario the fact cannot fail to excite a considerable degree of dissatisfaction until the motive and wisdom of the retention of the coal duty at its present high scale becomes apparent. It has been retained principally because of the evident determination of the tariff makers of the United States to prevent Canada from doing any profitable trade there in the line of bituminous coals. By the operation of the Dingley Bill, as reported up to the United States Senate by the House of Representatives, Nova Scotia coal is threatened with total exclusion from the American market. A few years ago, a wealthy syndicate of Boston, Mass., at whose head is the multi-millionaire, H. M. Whitney, acquired the principal coal mines of Nova Scotia, in Cape Breton county. Through Mr. Whitney's energy and executive ability, and by the expenditure of some three millions in mining improvements and transportation facilities his Company was able to raise coal and place it upon the New England markets at a figure which could successfully compete with that of the American article. This condition of things naturally excited the jealousy of the American coal-owner, and resulted in the Dingley bill embodying a provision for increasing the duty on bituminous coals from 40 cents to 75 cents per ton. As a matter of self-defence then it becomes necessary for Canada to repel the attack of the American and with what better weapon than that of his own fashioning. To this end the government has declared its policy in respect to the coal duties. The whole situation is caused by the ill-disguised hostility of the United States towards Canada as well as the natural outcome of high protection, which is the avowed policy of the dominant political party of the day in the neighboring republic. To "see" the Yank, his 75 cents per ton on the bituminous might be as much, under the circumstances as the middle sections of the country would care to put up, but to go him 50 cents better by placing an impost to that extent on the anthracite will be rather an effort, to say the least. It is an alternative, however, which the government would take with great reluctance. It is to be hoped that the necessity will not arise to force the government to carry out the threats to re-impose the duty on anthracite coal. There is no anthracite in Nova Scotia, or anywhere else in the older provinces, neither is there any in the great North-West or British Columbia. To tax this article then would simply increase the cost of fuel in a cold country without benefitting any natural industry.

In the new tariff will be found a national defence. Its acceptance and adoption ring out a death knell to protection on this continent. It has been frequently pointed out in the American press, before this time, that unshackled trade between England and Canada would produce such an excess of smuggling across the border election, did not hesitate to proclaim his distrust and contempt of Tupperism but refused to follow the Tupper combination which was so surely and rapidly hastening his party to inevitable disaster. I refer to Mr. Taylor McVeity, one of Ottawa's ablest politicians and a lawyer of high standing, who a few days ago in an open letter concerning the amalgamation of the two opposing Tory clubs of this city, closed the communication with these words:—"In conclusion, Sir, I have this further to say, that the amalgamation of these two associations will not of itself produce the unification of the party. Much more I think will need to be done. In one way, and in one way only, can the Conservative party here OR ELSEWHERE be united and restored to public confidence. That end can only be attained in the same way that one achieves salvation. The party must be born again. IT MUST ALTER ITS POLICY AND CHANGE ITS LEADERS."

TOWN COUNCIL.
 Council Chamber, May 3rd, 1897.

Council met in regular session, Coun. Aylsworth presiding, present, Carson, Miller, Perry, Lowry, Alexander, Boyle, Dey, Ming.

The minutes of last regular session were read and confirmed.

A communication from the clerk of the city council of Toronto asking the council to co-operate with that council in petitioning the Government not to grant the Bell Telephone Co. power to raise their rates was read. On motion the communication was laid on the table for further consideration.

A communication from John Hacknell re road machinery was referred to the Street Committee to report.

A communication from the Fire Underwriters Association re deficiencies in the town's fire appliance was read and referred to the Fire Water & Light Committee.

Tenders were received and read from The Rathbun Co., Robt. Light & Son., W. J. Wiseman, Havelock, C. H. Spencer, Roblin, for lumber and sidewalk supplies and from C. E. Duncan for rubble and stone. The tenders were referred to the Street Committee to investigate and report at the next meeting of council.

A communication from R. J. Wright and others was read asking the council to take some action in regard to the water that comes from the West Ward Academy grounds and depositing on surface of ground on Richard St., in front of R. J. Wright's residence and flowing down on surface to Dundas St. to the inconvenience of residents on said street. The matter was referred to the Street Committee to investigate and report.

The committee to whom was referred the petition from the members of the 47th Batt. Band suggested that the citizens of the town be asked to contribute to a fund for the procuring of instruments as set forth in the petition and after having done this that the council take the matter into their consideration and if the funds and appropriations will permit they will do whatever is possible to encourage the enterprise. At present they could not make any grant towards the scheme as no appropriation had been provided for it. The report was adopted.

The Treasurer's monthly report was read and adopted.

The communication from the council of Toronto was laid over until next regular meeting.

On motion $5 was ordered to be placed in the hands of the Chief of Police for sweeping the market.

their own business.

DAVIN and the Mail and Empire are out after the Post Master General with a blunderbuss for dismissing the Widow McManus, the genial postmistress of Northfield, B.C. The widow, when interrupted in the congenial task of mastering the contents of the post cards consigned to her for distribution was wont to secure quiet by brandishing a six shooter at the wicket. There is no doubt the Widow McManus is a charming lady but the people of Northfield didn't like her ways so despite the deep regret of the Mail and Empire, Davin, Foster and Sir Chas. Tupper, it was found necessary to dismiss her from the service.

GET WHAT YOU ASK FOR.

At the present time, when there is so much substituting and deception practiced by some dealers whose life-object is large profits, it is absolutely necessary to say to the ladies, "Get what you ask for."

Unscrupulous dealers are using every effort to sell inferior and adulterated dyes whenever the Diamond Dyes are asked for. To avoid fraud and deception, the ladies will please see that the name "Diamond Dyes" is on every packet they buy.

Bear in mind that inferior dyes ruin your goods; therefore they are a source of loss, trouble and annoyance.

Diamond Dyes are all warranted, are more than twice the strength of the common dyes, and sold for the same price—ten cents.

He Wanted Paregoric.

It is a good thing to remember the right word at the right time, but it is not everyone who does it by such a curious succession of ideas as the man who dashed into a Western drug store and accosted the clerk with:

"Say, I want some medicine, and I want it quick, too! But for the life of me I can't tell what the name is!" "Well, how on earth do you expect to get it then?" demanded the disgruntled clerk. "I can't help you!"

"Yes, you can, too!" said the would-be customer, promptly. "What's the name of that hay on the lower part of this lake—eh?"

"Do you mean Put-In Bay?" "That's it! That's it! And what's the name of the old fellow who put in there once, you know? Celebrated character, you know?"

"Are you thinking about Commodore Perry?"

"Good! I've got it! I've got it!" shouted the customer. "That's what I want! Gimme 10 cents worth of paregoric!"—Harper's Round Table.

The New Telephone Girl

She was a new girl at the Central telephone exchange.

Her previous experience in this big world had been behind the counter at Chintz & Chally's.

Nevertheless, she was a pleasant-spoken young lady, and amiability was written all over her nature.

She had adopted as her motto the touching sentence, "We strive to please," and she honestly tried to live up to it.

There was a ring at the bell. She applied her ear to the instrument, and asked sweetly:

"What number, please?"

"Let me have No. 474."

"I am sorry that No. 474 is busy now," she replied. "You can have No. 473 or No. 475 if you wish."

The individual at the other end of the wire hung up his receiver, and used language which plainly showed that all efforts to please do not necessarily succeed.—Harper's Bazar.

excess of smuggling across the border from Canada to the United States that that country would be unable to successfully cope with it. Under such conditions for the United States to continue in its refusal to accept reciprocity would simply be maintaining a policy in every sense inimical to the country's interests. The establishing of reciprocity between the two countries seems now to be brought within the range of a not far distant probability.

In England the preferential feature of the Liberal tariff has excited from all quarters the liveliest expressions of approbation and pleasure. The genuine and hearty outburst of unanimous approval in the mother land is a glowing tribute not only to the loyalty displayed by the Liberal party, but also to the wisdom and sagacity of the Administration which has displaced the Tupper incapables of yesterday. England announces her pride in her Canadian offspring as she greets the Liberal differential tariff with such emphatic expressions of affection through the columns of her press all over the kingdom. Kipling heralds it in appropriate verse, and Sir Charles E. H. Vincent hails it on the floor of the British Parliament by notice of a resolution expressing Great Britain's grateful and fraternal recognition to the Government and people of Canada. As the days pass by bringing other mead of praise of the new Liberal tariff and its loyal sentiment embodied in its declaration of preferential trade with the Mother Country, is it to be wondered at that Tories great and Tories small are dumb with amazement. Like a bolt from the clear blue has come the condemnation of their past policy and methods, — their falsity unmasked, and with one sweep of Liberal patriotism the disloyal barrier for eighteen years maintained against Great Britain by them, is levelled, and the nation rejoices.

Another commendable feature in the tariff is the adoption of the ad valorem rate in place of the bad principle of specific duties. The taxing of imports in proportion to their value, or ad valorem, is a principle which falls proportionately on the rich. The specific principle, that taxing goods in proportion to their weight, falls out of all proportion on the poor consumer, who has to purchase as many clothes and as much food as the rich man. The correct thing is to tax the luxury and the burden then falls upon that class of consumer who can best afford to bear it.

As to the tariff itself, it is like all other tariffs — a matter of detail, requiring investigation of all its parts to be rightly understood and appreciated. The salient features of it might with some profit be referred to in my letters during the progress of the debate in Parliament. It is the plan now, I believe, of the Opposition not to offer an amendment to the tariff as a whole measure, but to combat it, as best they may, in detail when in committee of the House. As usual the Opposition was not a unit on the question. The unhappy family still labors under its internal dissensions, and if one may be permitted to judge from the results of the last Tory caucus, there is a campaign of internecine warfare still being carried on in the ranks of the visibly lessening Opposition in Parliament. Recent events in Nova Scotia, and elsewhere, make the fact most convincingly apparent that Tupperism is a thing of the past, and a very hateful memory. The arrogance of the Tupper dynasty has worked his own downfall, and completely wrecked the once great Conservative party of Canada. That party must now build upon a new foundation, and on stepping stones of its dead past it may perhaps rise to higher and better things. This is not a fanciful picture, for it is painted by one of the most prominent Conservatives in this city, and one who, at the last general

Mr. J. M. Parrott was heard in reference to a building on John St. It was a rough cast house and he wished to repair it by raising it one storey and covering it on the outside with wood. He wished the council to take some action in the matter in regard to the fire limit by-law so that he could repair the house without being liable under the fire limit by-law. He would make it a different appearing building and it would be much better for the town. The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to investigate and report at the next meeting of the council.

S. C. Warner, town solicitor, was present and gave his opinion re the difference between the town and the Water Works Co'y. He was of the opinion that the council could recover $50 from the Water Works Co'y for each breach of the agreement. In regard to the particular instance on which the breach occurred he would not advise the council to go into litigation as it was not clear that a chimney burning out would be considered a fire.

SPRING NOVELTIES.

NEW COSTUMES AND COATS THAT ARE BRIGHT IN COLOR.

French Styles in Hats, Wraps and Dresses for the Promenade—Some Very Smart Bicycling Gowns—Late Designs For Various Functions.

(Special Correspondence.)

Paris, (Special.)—The loose sacque coat is as much in favor as any of the spring wraps that have appeared so far upon the promenades. It is made quite short and with tight sleeves, often of a light color and finished with gold and silver braid. It is an extremely simple garment, but capable of looking smarter than almost anything else worn. A coat of a very pale silvery blue smooth cloth that I noticed this morning was cut perfectly straight in front and behind. It was lined throughout with dark blue silk and turned back at the throat in a flat collar and odd truncated revers. It had small square pockets and plain sleeves and was edged with four five rows of narrow silver galon. White coats, cream-colored coats, green coats and bright red coats are only a few of the tints that give the city streets the look of spring.

Many of the more dressy wraps for married women are made loose also. One of the most successful models is built upon a deep yoke of passementerie, square in front and behind, from which hang straight lengths of silk or satin, laid in deep box or side plaits and richly embroidered at the bottom. One of the famous houses of Paris finished a garment of this order last week for the Empress of Russia. It was made of gray silk with wavering light of brown and blue, such as one sees on the breast of a pigeon. The yoke was an exquisite lace pattern sewn with jet. The standing collar was laid in box plaits, quite low in front, but rising to a considerable height at the back of the neck, and was lined with the point de Venice lace, heavy ruffles of which finished the sleeves. The wrap was quite short and was ornamented at the bottom with a rich embroidery in black silk, following a wonderfully delicate and intricate lace pattern and costing weeks of labor. The sleeves were pointed at the wrists and embroidered. The wrap was lined with red silk shot with black, and was accompanied by a bonnet of black lace with trimmings of pink almond blossoms.

Spring bonnets have strings to tie under the chin. I think I wrote a month or more ago that the earliest models prepared for the Riviera showed this innovation. The fashion promises to persist, at least for this season. This is saying nothing more than that a larger proportion than usual of alleged bonnets will be real bonnets in

AN AUNT'S ADVICE.

BROUGHT A YOUNG LADY OUT OF
THE SHADOW OF DEATH.

A Remarkable Case That Vividly Shows
the Wonderful Health-Restoring Power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
From the Orangeville Banner.

There is no doubt at all that many people are prejudiced against proprietary medicines, and equally no doubt many look upon the testimonials published as much in the nature of an exaggerated puff. If the Banner has been tinctured with this feeling it has, so far as one medicine is concerned, had its doubts removed. We refer to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, concerning the curative qualities of which strong claims have been made, and proofs advanced in their support which seemed equally strong. But it is when one comes across in their own locality a case almost rivaling any that have been made public, that doubt disappears and conviction follows. Such a case the Banner came across and investigated and now gives the facts. The case is that of Miss Sarah Langford, an estimable young lady who resides in the neighborhood of Camilla. We were told she had been brought near to death's door and had been restored to health through the agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We decided, however, to cast hearsay aside and investigate for ourselves.

We found Miss Langford the picture of health and good spirits, at her pleasant home in Camilla. In response to our inquiries as to her illness and the cause of her recovery, she expressed her willingness to satisfy our curiosity, and as she added, relate her experience for the good of others afflicted as she was. Her story very briefly, was as follows:—

"I had la grippe in the spring of 1894, I did not seem to get over the effects of the attack, and as the summer progressed became weak and listless. Any kind of work became a burden to me. After pumping a pail of water from the well, I would have to stand and hold my hands over my heart for a moment or so, it would flutter so violently. I could not go upstairs without difficulty, and towards the last would have to rest on the steps, and when I got to the top, lie down until I could recover my breath. I became a mere skeleton, my cheeks

THE NASTURTIUM JOINS THE VEGETABLE AND FLOWER GARDENS.

A Showy Garden Flower That Is Likewise of Great Usefulness—Something of Its Habits—The Soil It Prefers—Method of Culture.

Nasturtium is the popular name of the genus Tropaeolum, and is one of the many exceedingly useful yet sadly neglected old garden favorites, says The Orange Judd Farmer. We cannot see why it should not be more generally cultivated, unless it is that so much real beauty can be obtained at so little cost, the general impression being that anything to be valuable must be expensive. Within a few years a new impulse has been given to the cultivation of this flower by the production of new varieties, the result of cross-fertilization, and by making it fashionable. There are two distinct classes admirably adapted to garden cultivation, viz., the tall or climbing, and the dwarf. The tall growing sort, or T. majus, is among our most useful garden plants, forming a connecting link between the vegetable and the flower garden, making the former beautiful and the latter useful. We scarcely know whether to value them more highly for their young fruits, so valuable for pickling, or for their flowers, which give to the garden a wealth of bloom, with the most gorgeous colors and spicy perfume.

While they are among the most showy of garden flowers, they are not fastidious in their habits, succeeding well everywhere almost, and under all circumstances; besides, there is no place where they do not appear well, and in which they will not thrive. As a rule, they do best in a poor soil, at least they are credited with that peculiarity, but from our observation of their habits we are inclined to think they enjoy good treatment quite as much as any other flower, and will amply repay all the attention given them. We have noticed nasturtiums trained on an arbor more than six feet high, with wire netting for support. The plants completely covered the surface and would, seemingly, grow much higher if a suitable support had of July until killed by frost. These plants were in a very rich and moist soil.

But the usefulness of this plant does not end here; cuttings or branches in full flower placed in a vase of water will take root freely, after which they can be potted in five-inch pots, or in fruit cans filled with rich soil, and if given plenty of sunlight, will flower all winter. For all purposes we prefer the tall rather than the dwarf sorts; they flower more freely, are richer in foliage, and produce more fruit or seeds. These can be trained anywhere, and kept in place as border plants by pinning the branches down.

TEN YEARS SINCE.

History of a Long Standing Malady Given in Lucid Words by Mrs. Albert Armstrong, Hawthorn Row, Don Mills Rd. Todmorden, Ont.

Than Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong there are probably no better known or more generally respected inhabitants of Todmorden. Mr. Armstrong until lately was engaged in farming on the York town line between York and Scarborough, where he was born and brought up.

Mrs. Armstrong gives the following account of her heart and nerve troubles, their origin and results. We give in her own words the interesting account as she gave it to our representative. I was taken seriously ill with measles complicated with inflammation of the lungs. Since that time my heart has been affected, and I have never felt strong. I was troubled with palpitation so badly that I could hardly draw a long breath. My heart fluttered very much, and I was often attacked by spells of weakness and dizziness, so that I was sometimes unable to walk. My eyes seemed to be covered as if with a mist, and I was subject to terrible pains in the back of my head and through my forehead. Cold perspiration would break out on my hands and feet, and I lost my appetite.

Mentally I become very despondent, having a constant dread unforeseen about to happen. My sleep was poor and disturbed with frightful dreams. In fact my nerves were completely unstrung. I could not bear even the slightest noise. It was while in this condition that I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, through the kindness of Mrs. Vanhorn of this place at Mr. H. W. Love's drug store, corner Broadway and Danforth-avenues. Since taking them I have steadily and rapidly improved. The improvement is marked, indeed, for I feel daily getting stronger and better. My appetite is becoming quite healthy, my nerves stronger and steadier, and the heart trouble gives me scarcely any annoyance at present. More than that, I am thankful to feel cheerful in mind, and more confident in the future. In fact I am stronger and better in every way. I cannot too highly express my happiness at the marvelous change which Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have effected in my case. They have truly helped me, and I am thankful to be able to give this testimony that others suffering similarly may receive benefit. (Signed) Mrs. Albert Armstrong Todmorden, Ont.

the older sense of the word. A pretty model shown by a milliner whose word is law to thousands of women has a half-wreath of large pink and purple anemones framing the face. Behind this, on either side, is a butterfly arrangement of black quills radiating from the flowers, and behind these again more anemones. The strings are of narrow pink velvet ribbon. Another bonnet from the same house has a garland of pink and white almond flowers about the face set in knots of pink ribbon. Behind rises a mass of iridescent cocks' plumes, drooping on either side.

A dainty hat that nodded yesterday afternoon from a carriage in the Bois de Boulogne had a flat brim, broad in front, but diminishing to nothing behind. It was of black straw, with a close wreath of small yellow primroses set on the edge of the brim, and ending in a thick rosette on either side at the back. The full crown somewhat of the Tam o' Shanter order, had a high fan arrangement of black ribbons in front, from the folds of which and behind which rose stalks of the yellow and white narcissus mingled with primroses.

Walking dresses tremble on the giddy verge of the double skirt. Sometimes they fall over, oftener they refrain. The best models—that are, the newest—have sleeves that are almost skintight, with little epaulets or jockeys, or, may be, round, almost detached puffs at the shoulders. Waists show comparatively few changes. Some of the new bolero jackets open on one side, and fit almost as closely as a tailor bodice. The blouse is as popular as it was last summer, and is made in an even greater variety of materials. A pretty model much in favor is shirred over the shoulders and then left full to the waist line.

The bicycle suits of French women are the freshest and nattiest in the world. Bloomers are not so nearly universal as they were a year or two ago, but they are still in a great majority. Bicycle stockings are used instead of the long gaiters common in England and America, and very trim slippers or low bicycle shoes. Small flat hats, like sailors, are the usual headgear. Two suits that I saw on the driveway at Cannes a few days ago struck me as particularly good. They were worn by two young girls who have been making a bicycle trip through the Riviera quite by themselves. One was of a pretty shade of green cloth, cut with quite full bloomers, laid in knife plaits and gathered with an elastic at the knees. The waist, of heavy white pique, turned over at the throat, in a round standing collar, with a black cravat tie, and was worn under a jacket of the same material as the bloomers and cut almost after the Eton pattern short and square cornered at the waist. It had a flat collar and revers edged with black braid and tight sleeves, braid trimmed and puffed at the shoulders. It had a broad sash of black ribbon. Its wearer had long black stockings and a small black straw hat, with green ribbons and black and white quills.

The other suit was not of the bloomer order. It was of brownish-red cloth, with a short kilted skirt and double-breasted jacket with smoked-pearl buttons and big revers. It was worn with black stockings and a little black hat and a great bunch of spring violets.

There is nothing newer than the princess dress for dinner or reception wear. A costume finished yesterday is of primrose-yellow silk, with square neck, marred across in front with old lace, and with standing collar behind of yellow velvet lined with white. The close-fitting waist is embroidered with gold along the side darts.

lost his wax and his lips colored. I lost all appetite and my meals often went untasted. Medicine seemed to have no effect upon me. I was getting weaker all the time, and at last began to give up hope of recovery. My parents were of course in great distress, and I knew by the looks and actions of friends who called to see me that they thought I was doomed to an early death. Then a dear lady friend died and I managed out of love for her to drag myself to her funeral. The sensation of seeing her laid away, believing that I would soon follow her, was a strange one. Shortly after this, an aunt of mine, Mrs. Wm. Henderson, of Toronto, came to visit at our place. My condition troubled her very much and she insisted on my trying Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To please her I consented but with little hope of any good result. The effect, however, was wonderful and a pleasing surprise to me. I soon began to feel more cheerful and seemed to feel stronger. Then my appetite began to improve and the color return to my cheeks and lips. From that hour I steadily gained strength, and was soon enjoying my former excellent health, and I am sincere in expressing my belief that to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do I owe my recovery.

Enquiry among neighbors corroborated Miss Langford's story as to her illness and remarkable recovery. In her case at least Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have given a striking proof that they possess wonderful merits.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen then the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapping bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

BEHIND THE TIMES.

He rode along the thoroughfare, So neatly garbed, so debonaire; His chin was at an angle high, A merry sparkle filled his eye. His easy manner seemed to say, "I'm feeling mighty fine to-day."

And yet despite his stylish air, He face and form so debonaire, He knew that something wasn't right, He felt a sort of crushing blight— The friends he singled from the crowd Just looked him o'er and coldly bowed.

Despite his grace so debonaire The sweetest girls did rudely stare— But what the cause he could not tell, Until he heard a youngster yell: "Get on the bloom'n' chappie, Mike, A-ridin' on a last year's bike!"

Held Up On The Street

By Cramps, Giddiness and Weakness Resulting From Dyspepsia.

Paine's Celery Compound Delivers Mr. Rose From Every Trouble.

The story of Mr. William V. Rose, of Montreal, is the experience of thousands of men and women who are living a miserable life owing to the agonies of dyspepsia.

Mr. Rose's experience with suffering was a long one. From his youth indigestion and stomach troubles subjected him to daily tortures, and continued up to his sixty-fourth year, always increasing in intensity and danger.

After a lifetime of failures with medicines and doctors, a friend who had used Paine's Celery Compound with great success induced Mr. Rose to give it a trial. The medicine was used, and now Mr. Rose joyfully boasts of health and a new lease of life.

Mr. Rose with a view of benefitting all dyspeptic sufferers, writes as follows:

"For a long time I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and was often compelled to stop on the street until I could recover from cramps, pains and attacks of giddiness that were brought on by the terrible disease. I had little strength, could not sleep much, and was so run down that I thought I would never get better.

"I used many kinds of medicine, but they did me very little good. At last I was recommended to use Paine's Celery Compound. I tried a bottle, and it did me more good than anything I had taken before. I have used four bottles and have completely banished the distressing pains in my stomach, and I feel well.

"After having had dyspepsia for almost a lifetime, I think the cure is a wonderful one.

A SPLENDID EXAMPLE.

French Law Which Should Be Introduced in This Country.

In an article on the necessity of sound sires for horse breeding, a contemporary says: "Every stallion in France standing for public service must have a Government veterinary certificate." Here is an excellent suggestion for rendering such service to horse breeders just now, when they are awakening to the fact that sound, well-bred animals will fetch higher prices in the near future than they have in the past; although those who ought to know, contend that at no time, even during the depression through which we have passed or are now passing, have horses possessing real merit been a drug on the market, or fetched any but fair prices. These dealers, whose opinions are entitled to full credit, are unanimous in stating that there is a dearth of good horses in the country, and should the demand at all equal their expectations, there will be a general desire on the part of those who have dams suitable for the purpose, to breed to suit the anticipated demand. With no particular leaning for parental government, it seems that just here is where a little paternalism would come in to public advantage. It is entirely possible, in every state where horse-raising can be conducted profitably, and where a board of agriculture is established with a veterinary department affiliated with it, for such a board to issue a certificate of soundness to every stallion owner seeking public patronage for his horse's service. This certificate would be an immense safeguard for the breeder, for not one in twenty horsemen are competent to pass confidently upon a horse's constitution. The possession of the certificate would entitle the owner to offer the services of the horse, at a reasonable fee, inasmuch as he would be in greater demand for his certified soundness; at the same time the want of warranty would drive unsound animals out of the market and out of competition. But even if farmers were asked to pay higher prices than they have been accustomed to pay, the guarantee that the sire was sound would be worth the money. The idea

WONDERFUL PROGRESS.

How the Inventor Has Changed the Working Conditions.

It is difficult for the rising generation to realize the important influence of invention in the changed conditions of the present as compared with those of half a century ago. True, they can read of them all, but the picture presented by the record is not as vividly impressed upon the memory as is that upon the mind of the denizen who has passed the fifty-year mark in actual observation of the world's progress.

A correspondent of New Ideas whose whole life has been devoted to agriculture, writes very entertainingly on the subject in that branch of labor. He says: "My first recollections of farm labor were in raking long windrows of hay with the hand-rake. My brother and myself decided that there could be an improvement—that we could make a horse do the work. The result of our 'inventive' faculties was a long scantling, with wooden teeth about two feet in length inserted in holes bored in one side of it, and two old plow handles fastened near the center and at right angles, for grasping to steer the 'machine,' when a horse was hitched to the front, and we were thus enabled to rake a swath ten feet wide as fast as the horse could walk. True, when the rake was full we had to stop and 'back up' the horse, draw the rake from under the windrow, and lift it over to commence another raking; but it was a great improvement over the slow and laborious hand-rake. Then came the wooden-framed, 'revolving' horse-rake, which 'emptied' itself by the follower merely raising the handle so that the points of the teeth in front caught the ground, and we thought that 'farming made easy' had arrived, sure enough.

"But the ubiquitous inventor was still at work. There were other fields to conquer, and before the advent of many more 'hay-making seasons' he entered the field with the steel-toothed sulky-rake, with a spring seat for the driver, automatically unloaded itself by operation of a clutch on the wheel hub by merely touching

No other oil and no other medicine has ever been discovered which can take the place of Cod-liver Oil in all conditions of wasting. New remedies come, live their little day and die, but Cod-liver Oil remains the rock on which all hope for recovery must rest. When it is scientifically prepared, as in Scott's Emulsion, it checks the progress of the disease, the congestion and inflammations subside and the process of healing begins. There is the whole truth. Book about it free.

SWEET PEA CULTURE.

RADICAL CHANGE OF METHOD SUGGESTED BY A SPECIALIST.

Something of the Astounding Evolution of the Sweet Pea Flower—What Observation and Experiment Have Led Rev. Mr. Hutchins to Declare.

If there is any class of flowers in which there has been made greater and more astonishing progress within recent years than in sweet peas, it has escaped our notice, says The American Agriculturist. The small, insignificant, modest sweet pea of former years, which had nothing to recommend it but its fragrance, has, as if by magic, evolved into entirely new forms and shapes of its flowers, greatly enlarged the size and developed variety and richness of shades and colors almost incredible.

The list of named and well defined varieties runs already up into the hundreds and the novelty of each suceven a ten-year-old girl could do the work of ten men using the old hand-rake. This indeed, seemed 'perfection perfected,' and we only wondered that there was not a fan attachm't to keep the flies off.

"Now, even that paragon of progress has been relegated to the rear by a raker and loader, which is attached to the rear of the hay wagon, which rakes the ground clean and deposits the hay on the wagon all ready for the horse-fork, which, with two or three 'grabs,' deposits the whole load in the barn or rick. The crack farm laborer of my day, who prided himself on being able to take the last rakeful off the 'cradle' as it was swung around with a rhythmic 'swish' by the man who was cutting the grain, and thus 'keep up' with him in binding the sheaves, now stands aghast at the self-binding reaper, which throws the perfectly-bound sheaves away from its path, and greedily reaches for more with a nonchalance that is wonderful.

"The inventor, too, has taken a wonderful load off from the 'women folks.' Churning day used to be looked forward to with a sort of dread, especially in hot weather, as it was often so difficult to make the butter 'come' just right—probably from an imperfect knowledge of the temperature required, etc. Now my son takes all the milk to the creamery, where it is put into a centrifugal 'separator,' and the butter literally 'whipped' out of it in a few minutes; and instead of waiting for the butter-buyer to come along in the fall and run his steel troyer down to the bottom of the tubs and firkins before making an offer, we receive a regular monthly dividend from the creamery, which amounts to a little more than formerly, and all the work taken away from the house."

ities, most of which are catalogued by seedsmen generally. One of the most remarkable of these novelties is Aurora, a life-size illustration of which is presented herewith. A first-class certificate was awarded to it by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society last year. Its flowers are of gigantic size, of rich, salmon pink stripe on a rich ground. The vines are vigorous in growth, and bloom profusely.

But great and astounding as has been the evolution of the sweet pea flower, from the specialist florist's standpoint of view, this is not of nearly the importance to the amateur gardener as are the new methods of cultivation. "Plant deep"—certainly not less than six inches—was the inexorable law laid down by all authorities of high and low degree; and those of us who followed the advice and yet failed to secure success attributed our failures to every imaginable cause except the real one—too deep planting. But now hope springs up in the heart of many a disappointed and discouraged flower lover, when so skillful and experienced a specialist as the Rev. W. T. Hutchins boldly announces: "We must abandon the trench method of planting sweet peas. The trench method was used to secure deep planting, and the substitute for deep planting is firming the soil. Since the trench method apparently causes the blight, we must stop it. Sweet peas do best in a heavy soil, and you can get very nearly the same effect, if your soil is light, by firming it. Plant if possible, in your vegetable garden, where the soil has been deepened and enriched in past seasons. And if where your row comes it has been newly spaded, tread it down considerably before planting. This treading will hollow out the place for your row about right—and it will thus collect moisture, and by its compactness will hold it. In this hollow scratch the lines for your seed. When the seeds come up do not fill in any earth about them, at least for six weeks. Every time you hoe, firm the ground compactly about them, and don't let mosses loosen it up. Vines that come up in the well-trod path do not have the blight. This method applies in light soil, in which the blight is troublesome. In the case of heavy soil it settles soon of itself, and the surface of it must be kept of course from baking. In either case, after the buds begin to appear, put on a light mulching to shade the ground."

Such a radical reversion of all previous practices, has recently been attempted in any line of horticulture, yet when we recall to mind some of our own experiences with sweet peas, we feel convinced that the method recommended is the only true and rational one.

IN some parts of the world fire is yet produced in this difficult and arduous way.

In Canada the people produce fire by the use of

E. B. Eddy's Matches.

Our friend well illustrates a portion of what the inventor has done in his line of labor, and it is but the reflex of the steady advancement in methods in all lines of industry. While the subject is practically inexhaustible, the thought occurs that with so many mechanical aids brought to bear in the performance of what has heretofore been considered the most irksome classes of labor, that it leaves the young man or woman of to-days so much more time for recreation and improvement, which, if properly utilized, can but result in enlarged comprehension and better realization of the responsibilities which, properly met, will fit them to perform justly, wisely and magnanimously all the offices of life, both public and private.

Simplicity in Fumigation.

Wood-alcohol lamps constitute a new invention for disinfection which has been adopted by the Boston Board of Health, and which not only do the work without causing all the inconvenience of sulphur, but also much quicker and better. The active agent is formaldehyde gas which is manufactured in a very simple stove or lamp. These wood-alcohol lamps, now in use in Boston, which is one of the first to adopt them, look like very simple contrivances. Each consists of three sections. The base looks like a large milk pan, and is made of tin. The second section is of sheet iron, about two feet long and twelve inches in diameter. This fits over the first section in much the same manner as a chimney is fitted to a stove. A few inches from one end of this second section is a fine wire screen to check the flame of the burning alcohol. About ten inches above this screen is a second screen, coarser than the first, and made of agestoss soaked in platinum. The action of the alcohol on this platinum asbestoss produces the gas.

Under this new arrangement the officer arrives with his stoves or lamps as they are called, places them in position, touches a match to the alcohol, a quart of which does the work of six pounds of sulphur, and in about three hours the work is done in a quicker, safer, more economical and more thorough manner than was possible under the old system. The formaldehyde gas will penetrate the woodwork and the walls to an extent impossible with sulphur. It does no damage, however. It will not injure anything in the house except the germs which it is intended to kill. It has a slight effect on iron and steel, and on fabrics which are dyed a certain shade of violet or red. About thirty of these lamps are now in use by the Health Department. They have passed the experimental stage. They are pronounced entirely successful.

And he said without looking up
From the case of type he was "setting" from:
"With me it is picking up."

2—"To a sewing girl next was my query put;
"How's business with you dear friend?"
She stitched a patch as she sweetly said:
"With me it is on the mend."

And asked: "How's business to-day?"

Health is the best inheritance. It leaves its influence even to the third and fourth generation. What greater happiness has life in store for any man than to live to a green old age surrounded by his children and his children's children, and see them all robust, happy and successful. Happy the man who lives to carve at the wedding suppers of his grandchildren. Picture yourself a gray-haired but hearty old man at the head of the table at your grandson's wedding, thanking your Maker for the blessing of long life, and asking the blessing of good health for generations yet unborn. It lies in almost every man's power to be thus blessed if he will. If he will only obey Nature's laws and be watchful of his health, he will have long life and happiness.

The best preserver of health is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It keeps the digestion perfect, the liver active, and the blood pure. It is the best flesh-builder and nerve invigorator. The man who resorts to it whenever he feels any symptoms of approaching ill-health will live to a hearty old age. Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

J. B. Holt, of Whiteside Stand, Wayne Co., Tenn., writes: "In October, 1890, I was taken with a hurting in the back of my neck which steadily grew worse. I consulted a doctor. He gave me a course of treatment but I gradually grew worse under it. At last my trouble ran into what was called 'spinal affection.' I could hardly walk about at all. Finally I became as helpless as a child. I wrote you at Buffalo, N. Y., in regard to my condition and you answered me promptly and prescribed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took the 'Discovery' and soon got well. My health continues good."

Druggists sell Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation. They cure quickly and permanently and never gripe. One is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic.

THE HANGING DIVAN.

bay, Calcutta or Delhi, and the most gorgeous of those so far brought to this country have cost their owners, when hung in order for use, all of $300. The seat itself is about four and one-half feet square. The wood platform is nearly five inches thick, most richly varnished or lacquered and inlaid with mother of pearl. Four quaint and ponderous chains fixed in the ceiling, wrought entirely of brass, and the links representing apes and elephants, hooked together by trunks and tails, suspend the seat about twenty-six inches twelve feet long. Some are made of camels' hair in splendid colors and Persian arabesques with a heavy fringe along the edges and cost at least $150. These are not suspended between walls, but are attached to two carved uprights, fastened to the floor and are held out by stretchers in the form of light brass bows, to which are attached rows of quaint little bells. As many as three persons can lie easily at full length straight across such a hammock, their heads buried in downy linen covered pillows and the bells faintly tinkling out a sort of elfland music.

Less expensive hammocks are woven of flax, but not in the wide mesh of those we get from Mexico and the great width of these simla cradles goes to make of them a bed that fairly defies wakefulness. One of these hammocks, brought over for a country house in the Berkshires, is to be hung in the cool, dusky corner of a wide hallway, and over it in true East India fashion a great fan of silk, stretched on a bamboo frame, hung. Then, on the hottest of days and when prone among the pillows, a weary individual, by grasping the silk cord hanging from the fan, will be able to keep the hammock gently swaying, the bells tinkling, the air above stirring and all with a minimum of effort.

● MILLICENT ARROWPOINT.

COMING TO CANADA.

Mrs. Annie Besant, the Great Theosophical Leader, and Her Life.

Great thoughts set forth with unsurpassed eloquence are attracting universal attention to the cult championed by Mrs. Annie Besant these days in the beginning of her tour throughout the United States and Canada in the interest of the Theosophical Society. Mrs. Besant's wonderful talents have, since the death of Madame Blavatsky in 1891, been exclusively devoted to the propaganda of theosophy, until her eloquent tongue has been heard by all nations delivering her message concerning the eternal. Many books, too, concerning this philosophy, "The Seven Principles of Man," "Karma," "Reincarnation," "The Sheaths of the Soul," etc., besides her editorial work on Lucifer, attest to her devoted labors to the cause of mankind in spreading truths concerning brotherhood and a right life. While theosophists may believe anything with regard to religion, the vast mass of them agree on one point, and that is that the great religious teachers were men who had reached perfection through having lived many lives on earth, and that they constitute a secret brotherhood, from which members are sent at intervals to teach humanity.

MRS. ANNIE BESANT.

Mrs. Besant has already lectured in New York, and is now on a tour through the United States. She expects to reach Toronto at the beginning of August.

Viewed from any aspect, Mrs. Annie Besant is a strangely strong woman. Born in England, of Irish parents, her childhood was spent in an atmosphere of pure religion, and, upon attaining the age of young womanhood, she was of an exceedingly devotional nature. With a strong inclination for the cloister, she was diverted from the purpose of seeking seclusion in a nunnery by the belief that she would accomplish more for religion by marrying a clergyman, and at twenty she became the wife of Rev. Frank Besant, brother of the novelist, Sir Walter Besant. She soon discovered that her husband's life did not conform to the lofty ideas of perfect religion which she had formed, and resented the disappointment by not only refusing to go to church, but by resisting his authority as a husband, and finally becoming a heretic. The result was a separation.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

"I'm going to have a little fun this afternoon," remarked Joseph Goodfellow as he worked his way into his overcoat, preparatory to leaving his office Saturday. "That boy of mine has been reading about the Corbett Fitzsimmons fight, and boxing in barns all over town, till he imagines that he is a pugilist. I'm going to take him out in the back yard and take some of the conceit out of him. He is a pretty husky boy, but you know I used to be very clever with the mittens myself."

This morning the following appeared under the head of personal mention: "The friends of Mr. Joseph Goodfellow will regret to hear that he is seriously ill at his home in the Western Addition."

In the sporting column of the same journal was the following:

"I hereby challenge any 16-year-old boy on the Pacific coast, who don't weigh over 135 pounds, to fight to a finish for money or marbles.—Kid Goodfellow."—San Francisco Post.

from the floor. The massive glittering chains are at the ceiling fixed in, through big engraved plates of brass, that have bolts, to the cross-beams, and then to this great, broad, gently swaying divan is first laid a thick, soft mattress. Its covering is a rich cloth of crimson silk and gold, and banked at either end are pillows of every size, upholstered in oriental silks. Usually, at one side of the divan, sits a stand and equipage for oriental coffee, at the other a smoking outfit from India. Strung on and twisted about the chains are pieces of gold-striped gauze, bangles for ankles and arms. Tossed among the pillows are scented feather fans, and from the ceiling, at a point between the four chains, hangs a lantern that sheds electricity through its stained glass and beaten brass windows, while still below it hangs a spice burner.

The remainder of the room has been decorated in accurate accord with one piece of furniture, even to the ceiling, fretted in gilt and white to the carved wood and stained glass screens, where the glazed saches were, and here the happy owner presides at her tea, over her note writing, etc. A few women have fallen so deeply in love with the Indian swinging divans that they have had their sturdy carved four posters or Vernis Martin bedsteads taken from their rooms and substituted these big oriental hanging couches. But this is an exaggeration of the craze. In Mrs. George Gould's home a truly enormous divan is to hang in her studio. Six wrought bronze chains, representing the heads of idols, will hold it in place, and over the scarlet silk mattress is to be spread a wonderful cloth of gold counterpane, edged with bullion fringe to sweep the floor.

This is to find a place between two windows, so that the weary lounge among the pillows can catch in summer every bit of breeze passing through the close latticed window. At Mrs. Astor's home on the Hudson river a swinging divan, quite as splendid but not so large as either of those above described, is hung in a circular portico that opens out of her bedroom, and commands a magnificent water view. The portico itself is nearly inclosed in the most delicate lattice work, the stone floor is strewn with Indian rugs, lemon and rose created cockatoos occupy tall bamboo perches in sunny corners, and here the mistress spends her summer mornings, reading, writing with her secretary and otherwise putting her lovely open air studio to practical use.

Now, any woman of smaller means and yet with as vaunting ambitions as one of the ladies above mentioned, can, of course, by careful study of the requirements for a hanging divan, have one built for her own studio or summer balcony if she has a mind to. And that is just what many a woman is now ordering her cabinetmaker to do, satisfying herself with iron chains heavily gilded, a platform of plain pine, stained and varnished, and upholstering her mattress and pillows in art linens. Such swinging seats are being ordered for the tea balconies of Newport cottages.

Those who do not take kindly to a hanging divan can fall into the ranks of those equally beautiful and comfortable loving sisters who are importing or having made for their summer homes, yet greater novelties in the form of simla hammocks. Everybody who reads Kipling knows where Simla is and there in even the least pretentious homes, a hammock is synonymous with ease. It usually occupies a place between two windows in the general sitting room, or decorates the tea end of the wide veranda—when drawn out to its greatest width a simla hammock measures heretofore. The result was a separation, then a divorce, and, after that, all sorts of trials and troubles for the woman, which culminated in making her a leader among the socialists of London, a co-laborer with Charles Bradlaugh, in promulgating the doctrines of infidelity, and subsequently the disciple of, and then earnest worker with Mme. Blavatsky as the leader and teacher of theosophy.

Mrs. Besant's life has not been barren of good results. She became the champion of the poor in London, and by her tongue and pen did much toward ameliorating their condition in life. She procured for the overworked and underpaid match girls such reforms in their work and wages as materially improved their condition. It was due mainly to her agitation that John Burns was given a seat in Parliament, and under her guidance the working people of London were organized, with the result that many improvements in their social condition followed. During this period of her labor she stood one night at the head of an army of workmen in Trafalgar square and when a regiment of soldiers charged upon her force with fixed bayonets, she stood her ground, remarking they had a right to be there. Her bravery won for her the admiration of all England.

After this Mrs. Besant became the pupil of Huxley and under his tutelage studied science and philosophy. She first visited this country in March, 1891, and delivered several lectures. In 1893 she made her second visit as a delegate of the theosophists in the congress of religions at the World's Fair. Her present visit is for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures in the leading cities of the country.

Want a Royal Widow?

It is announced that the harem of the late Shah of Persia has been dispersed. He had an extremely fine collection of wives and lodged them sumptuously. His successor did not care to support this part of his father's belongings, especially as he had a similar institution of his own to look after. Only a few women, having strong family influence, were allowed to retain lodgings in the royal palaces.

The others are free to marry, but they have been warned that they must not do this with Persian civil or military officials. If any one with a passion for curiosities would like to acquire a royal widow he has now an excellent opportunity to do so. The American Consul at Teheran will no doubt receive many inquiries.

BUTCHERED OR BURNED?

We read with horror of the cruelty and butcheries of Gen. Weyler in the fair Isle of Cuba, but little reck we of the ravages of that more direful King of Grave-Fillers, KIDNEY DISEASE, here in our midst.

People of high and low degree drop into graves on all sides of us daily from Kidney Trouble. We incur it ourselves. We encourage it. We do everything but cure it.

Yet there is a cure, pleasant as a May morning. Sure as fate. Infallible as heredity. Before this wonderful remedy, the agonizing tortures of Kidney Ills vanish like a snowflake in a fiery furnace.

This cure, of which we sound the praises is DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Yet not alone we, but every one who has tried them. One hundred per cent of cures we record. Here are examples:—

W. F. Smith, 16 Carroll St., Toronto, says:—"I have taken eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills which have cured me of Heart Trouble, Pain in the Back and Dizziness, after other treatments had failed."

D. J. Kenney, Queen's Hotel, Mount Forest, says:—"Have suffered greatly from Nervousness, but information as to the effects of Dodd's Kidney Pills in such cases led me to use them, with the result that I am cured."

Louis H. Bounsell, 573 King East, Toronto, says:—"Had been troubled for several months with pain in my back and kidneys which prevented my entering in bicycle events, but am in the ring once more after using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. James Stokes, Deseronto, Ont., says:—"From the first box taken of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found relief, and hundreds here, knowing me for the past fifteen years, can vouch for my cure of long standing Kidney Trouble."

Our Idea

Is not to buy the cheapest goods in the market because they are made and sold cheap. "But best values only" sell them as cheap as is consistent to do business and do the square thing with every one. This plan will win favor and make lasting customers which is what we want to cultivate as we are in the clothing business to stay.

Slept in the old Tannery.

On Friday evening last the little six-year-old adopted daughter of Isaac Sproule, Robinson street, wandered away from home and all efforts to locate her during the night proved unavailing. On Saturday morning she was found peacefully asleep in the old tannery, next to the soap works. The little miss did not appear any the worse for her night's outing.

Another Sudden Death.

Marion Cannon passed away on Monday at the residence of Thos. Johnston, after a three days' illness. She was taken suddenly ill on Saturday evening with some affection of the brain and all attempts to save her life proved futile. Deceased was but eighteen years of age and much esteemed and respected by her friends and associates. Her parents, who reside in South Napanee, will have the sympathy of all in their deep bereavement. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the Napanee cemetery, the Rev. Arthur Jarvis conducting the service.

Curling.

A meeting of the Curling Club was held on Thursday evening of last week in Herington & Warner's law office, to wind up the season and to arrange for the future. A Very Sudden Death.

Benjamin Meiklenburgh passed away on Sunday morning about 2 o'clock, with uraemic coma. He had been afflicted with Bright's disease of the kidney but was able to attend to his duties up to about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, when he took to his bed and never arose from it again. He did not complain of being ill, but when his brother-in-law, Mr. A. M. Vineberg, called in a doctor on Saturday evening about ten o'clock he found deceased in an unconscious condition and all efforts to revive him proved abortive. Deceased was a quiet, unassuming and industrious young man, and had a host of friends in town who will regret his untimely death. He was thirty-one years of age. His remains were taken to Kingston on Monday where they were deposited in the Catarqui cemetery.

Will Meet in Napanee.

Drs. Leonard and Bissonnette were at Belleville on Wednesday attending the annual meeting of the Quinte District Medical Association. Dr. Leonard gave a paper on a surgical subject which was well received. A grand banquet was given the association by the Belleville physicians at the Quinte hotel. Our doctors extended an invitation to the association to hold its next meeting here, and their invitation was accepted. The association will meet here on the 27th October next, and no doubt our physicians will spare no pains to make the meeting a grand success.

Organized at Napanee.

A Sons of Temperance Division was organized at Napanee on Friday evening last, 30th ult. The following officers were elected: W. P., Alex Karr; W. A., Myron B. Mills; S. Y. P. W., Mrs. Mary Goode; R. Scribner, T. C. Unger; A. R. S. Charles Eysel; F. S., J. N. Osborne; Treas., Charles Stevens, sr.; Chap., Mrs. Rickley; Con., J. L. Loucks; A. C., Mrs. C. W. Conway; I. S., Mary Mills; O. S., Allen Gerow; P. W. P., Thomas W. Casey; Deputy, Alex Karr. Night of meeting, Tuesdays.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. D. A. Nesbitt, the genial principal of the Newburgh High School, had rather a close call on Sunday evening last. He had occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church, Selby, on Sunday evening, and while returning from the meeting, accompanied by Vera, the little daughter of Mr. G. Neely, he made a miscalculation, owing to the darkness, and drove off the end of a culvert. Mr. Nesbitt was thrown from the rig with considerable force, while the frightened horse ran to the residence of Mr. Neely, where it came to a full stop. Miss Vera pluckily clung to the carriage and escaped uninjured. Mr. Nesbitt was somewhat bruised and shaken up but fortunately escaped without any serious injuries.

Vestry Meeting.

The adjourned vestry meeting of St. Mary Magdalene took place on Monday evening last. The wardens' report for the year showed a deficit of $80. After some discussion on ways and means Mr. Zina Ham volunteered a donation of $10. Mr. E. H. Baines, Judge Wilkinson and G. F. Rutten followed with $10 each, and the remaining $40 was made up by donations of varying amounts. Mr. Fennell was elected as rector's warden and Mr. Arthur tain, received a telegram from the officer of police of Louisville, Kentucky, instructing him to arrest one, James Stone, as he was wanted in Louisville for murder. Mr. Wiskin arrested Burnett, who was working in the evaporating factory there, and brought him to Napanee where he was lodged in gaol. Burnett waived extradition proceedings and quietly accompanied officer Brown, who was sent after him, to Louisville to stand his trial. On April 17th Burnett was given his trial and was acquitted by the jury after short consideration. The evidence brought out that on August 17th, 1895, one Theodore Gillum and a party of friends were holding a dance in a park owned by Burnett's aunt. All who attended were given badges, and Gillum, noticing that Burnett was not in possession of a badge, ordered him to leave the park. He refused, and Gillum instructed a policeman to put him out. The policeman struck Burnett, who swore roundly and refused to leave the place. Gillum then attempted to put Burnett out. He knocked him down several times. Just outside the gate Burnett drew a knife and stabbed Gillum in the neck, severing an artery, and inflicting a wound from which he died.

A Smashup on the G. T. R.

An error of judgment, or a moment's carelessness on Saturday forenoon entailed a loss of many thousands of dollars to the Grand Trunk Railway, tied up both tracks for two hours, and delayed and disorganized freight traffic throughout the day. It all came about by the driver of a west bound freight train neglecting to get his engine well under control before starting down the grade leading to the Napanee station. The accident occurred about 11.30 a.m. A way freight had run out on the main line to shunt. The semaphore was up and no damage was apprehended from approaching trains. A west bound through locomotive came lumbering along dragging its train of thirty-six freight cars. The grade was reached apparently before the engineer noticed that the semaphore was up against him. All too late the order for brakes was given, as their application failed to check the impetus of the heavy train and it sped past the semaphore and dashed against the engine of the way-freight with great force. The light engine of the way-freight was badly damaged, the caboose telescoped over the boiler and the tender sadly demoralized. The freight cars attached to it broke from the couplings and rebounded fully one hundred feet. They were all more or less damaged. When the driver on the west bound train became cognizant of the fact that he could not check his train he whistled wildly to the way freight to clear the track. Either the driver of the engine failed to comprehend the significance of the signals or was of the opinion that he could not clear in time to save himself. He brought his engine to a standstill and with the fireman stepped from the caboose before the collision occurred, the driver, the fireman and the brakeman on the west bound also leaped from their train before the smash. The antics of the heavy cars, thus abruptly brought to a standstill were funny in the extreme. The principal damage took place about the centre of the train. Three empty oil cars, a car loaded with empty beer kegs, and a fat fellow loaded with old rags, went cavorting heavenward. The oil tanks descended on one side of the bank, the two box cars turned a complete somersault and landed on their backs, so to speak, on the other side, while the trucks took a flying leap into the ditch. About an hour after the accident the wrecking train arrived from Belleville and soon had one track clear. The mail train was only delayed two hours and the express one hour by the collision. By 2 p.m. on Sunday both tracks were clear and very few vestiges of the wreck left in sight. The damages are estimated at from eight to ten thousand dollars and are looked upon as extremely light considering the nature of the accident.

NOTES.

The west bound freight train, No. 103, was in charge of Conductor McCullum, of Brockville, and driver Geo. Teale, of Belleville. The way-freight was in charge of Conductor Corrigan and Engineer McEwan, of Brockville. It is said that driver Teale has assumed all responsibility for the wreck.

J. S. Hulet, Rev. A. Jarvis, Fred Miller and Mrs. F. Scott were on the scene early and secured several photographs of the wreck.

A Fine Organization.

What the Chatham Planet says: "The Clara Schumann Ladies' Orchestra is beyond doubt the finest musical aggregation that has ever appeared in the Grand Opera House. Owing to the storm the audience was small, but that it was highly appreciative was abundantly evidenced by the rounds of applause which greeted every number. The ladies graciously responded to repeated encores, drawing out the eleven selections upon the programme to nearly twenty, double encores being in some instances insisted upon and acquiesced in. Their visit to the Maple City was an event which Chatham's lovers of music will long remember, and one that will assure them a bumper house should they ever come again. The Pembroke Standard tells of a party of men who paid a visit to the residence of August Drager, in the township of Allice, for the purpose of paying his daughter, who was to be married on the following day, a visit according to an old German custom. They were armed with guns, which they fired off at a great rate, one of the inmates of the house being wounded by the fusillade. The sooner this "Old German custom" becomes obsolete the better.

A story is related of a little boy in a neighboring town who was about to be punished by his father for some infraction of the household rules. Just as the father was about to commence operations the little fellow asked if he could go into the bedroom for a minute. The request was granted. Tiptoeing to the door the man with the switch in his hand saw the child kneeling at the bedside and heard him say, "Oh Lord, if you ever did want to help a little boy, now's your time." The whipping was postponed.

A GRAND TRUNK BRAKEMAN

Tells the Story of His Exposure—The Fate that Befel Him, and how he was Relieved of his Sufferings.

W. Lavelle, G. T. R. brakeman, Allandale, Ont., says: "Through exposure I contracted that dread disease—catarrh. My case became chronic. Was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. In ten minutes after the first application I had relief, and in an almost incredibly short time all symptoms had disappeared. I feel I can not speak too strongly in recommending this remedy. It is a pleasant, safe and quick cure." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Cooking Small Fish.

In The Ladies Home Journal Mrs. S. T. Rorer, in telling how to fry the small fish, quotes the old saying: "Small fish should swim twice—once in water and once in oil." "Smelts, trout, whitebait, perch and catfish," she says, "are, perhaps, more palatable fried than broiled. Small fish may be stripped—that is, the intestines may be pushed out under the gills, so that the fish may retain their shape. Wash and dry, then dust with salt and pepper, dip in egg and roll in breadcrumbs, or they may be rolled in cornmeal. Have ready a good-sized pan with sufficient oil to cover. Put the fish in a frying basket, then into the oil at a temperature of 350 degrees Fahrenheit, and cook for about five minutes. Drain on brown paper and serve. Where a small quantity of fat is used, and the fish cooked on one side and then turned and cooked on the other, the method is really not frying—it is sauteing; the result is much more indigestible than real frying. Catfish are frequently fried in this way without being dipped in crumbs. Sunfish may be rolled in flour or cornmeal and carefully fried in dripping, oil or lard. A mixture of dripping and lard makes a better frying material than lard alone. A pure vegetable oil is freer from danger of disease germs than either. Never use butter for frying fish; it boils at a low temperature, consequently burns quickly; the butyric acid softens the fiber of the fish, destroys the flavor, and causes it to become soft as soon as taken from the pan."

A Plain Tale From the Hills.

It was at a table d'hote dinner at a hill station in India that a very young officer just up from the plains found himself seated next to a lady whom he took for one of the grass widows common in those parts. He made himself agreeable, but his neighbor seemed a good deal out of spirits; so he said, sympathetically:

"I suppose you can't help thinking of your poor husband grilling down below."

But the lady was a real widow, and when he learned that he changed his seat.—London Vanity Fair.
